INTRO

Jyotish translates as "light bearer". Vedic astrology sheds light on the genetic portrait of a person.

The houses symbolically represent 12 spheres of life, the planets located in them allow us to understand with what qualities these spheres should be realized. Also, active houses (those with planets) can be represented as spheres of motivation.

Houses that have planets are "waiting" for attention and "want" to be involved in activities that suit them.

The task of a specialist reading the Natal chart is to link all the qualities together, understanding how they manifest themselves together and through each other; after that, set them a common task, performing which, a person uses everything that is inherent in it.

In the automatic calculation given on Saturn.Love, General characteristics of positions in the map are given, which can be interpreted from person to person in very different ways, - depending on the nuances and subtle relationships that are not available to machine analysis.

- WARNING! Until the specialist determines the correct Natal chart for you, any chart is only presumably yours.

ALL ABOUT THE MOON AND YOUR ✨ HAPPINESS

Vedic astrology is called “lunar astrology” because the Moon is responsible for happiness and peace of mind – the most important things for a quality life. The moon is responsible for thinking and perceiving reality. The “neglected” Moon becomes a source of mental problems, fears and depressions. It is important for any person to deal with their psyche and their states, and the natal chart indicates in what ways you can get rid of despondency, anxiety and fears for the future. Jyotish highlights individual answers to such questions as: Without what is my happiness almost unattainable? What do I need to be happy? Below we will analyze your individual ways of finding happiness, spiritual harmony and a sense of security.

MOON IN ♑ CAPRICORN

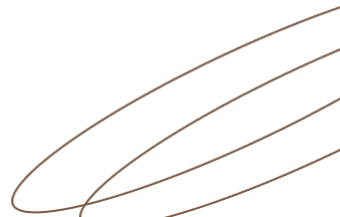

10 – Capricorn (ruled by Saturn) You are one of the most stable and reliable people there can be. You are emotionally reserved and tend to intellectualize, making an impression of a cold, rational person who is hesitant to expose their vulnerability. You are not particularly gullible and are quite picky in your relationships. You like structure and order and don't tolerate chaos. Material achievements and a sense of certainty are important to you, so you tend to strategize and think far ahead. Ambitiousness, diligence, status-seeking, rigidity, discipline, leadership potential and organizing abilities – all these qualities are natural for you. You are great at taking responsibility. Lack of fulfilling work can cause dissatisfaction and nervousness. You can be prone to micromanaging. The fullness of your strategic mind's potential unlocks after 36 years of age, once you've acquired some wisdom. You should learn to express emotional warmth and affection, develop your romantic side and not hide your vulnerability from your close ones. Pick a big goal and move towards it over the years.

METHODS OF WORKING OUT DAMAGED PLANETS

When a planet is in its fall in a Jyotish natal chart (which means it is positioned in the sign where it is at its weakest), it affects the native's life in a negative way. It makes them prone to laziness in developing the area of life that the afflicted planet rules. This hinders fulfilment both in career and relationships. Any planet in fall needs strengthening for the native to live a full life. The good news is anyone can improve the qualities of the planet in fall and help it “rise” if they choose to do it and put enough effort into it.

PLANETS IN THE HOUSES

Planets in 1 in the house

House of self. According to Vedic philosophy the 1st house represents the first evolutionary stage of a person. Entering our 1st house on the course of our personal evolution we get to understand what we are and what we are here to do - in other words, we discover our life purpose. If a person is not aware of his life purpose, then he obviously hasn't passed his first evolutionary stage yet. The sign ruling the 1st House is called the Ascendant. The first house describes a person as a whole. Sometimes, the Ascendant description happens to be more resonant for the person getting the reading than his sign of the Zodiac Wheel of Western astrology. For example, a person born on July 5th who is used to identifying himself with Cancer, is more likely to match the description of Leo if his Ascendant is Leo. Also, the strength of the house of personality determines the strength of the chart and the native's genetics overall. Planets in this house bestow particular ambitions for self-fulfillment that the native's surroundings will also be expecting from them. The house of personality shows how we are perceived by others. For instance, a person with Mars in their 1st house will be expected to manifest the corresponding Martian traits like perseverance, immediate response, and competitiveness, while the one with Venus in their 1st house – the Venutian charisma, charm, etc. Diseases of the 1st house: physiologically the 1st house governs immunity as a whole, and if a person is not living out their potential and not fulfilling their life purpose, then the very foundation of their health - their immune system - gets compromised.

Ketu in 1 in the house

Ketu in the 1st house bestows unreasonable asceticism; children with Ketu in their house of personality should be praised and encouraged more often, otherwise, they will grow up self-conscious and always seeking external approval; somewhat “enlightened” by nature these are often very nice affable people. It’s vital for them to come out of the shadow; they grow exponentially if they master building partnerships - both personal and business.

Nakshatra totem animal:

In business 1 at home, you manifest yourself as Elephant: the wisest one; not afraid of predators, although they don’t really mess with it; non-confrontational; complicated relationship only with Snake and Mouse/Rat totems.

MAKE AN APPOINTMENT FOR A CONSULTATION

The interpretation of the provisions in the map presented here is very general , describes some personality traits and the purpose is not derived from this information. In order to deduce the purpose, you need to link all the positions of the planets, their aspects and combinations, take into account houses in which there are no planets, identify the subpersonalities that make up you, all their characteristics and set them a common task.

An important point that should be emphasized: before rectification (determining the correct horoscope for you), you cannot be sure that this chart belongs to you, even if you know your time of birth quite accurately.

To rectify your natal chart, link the disparate positions in it into a common portrait and identify the purpose, sign up for an individual consultation.
